The amendment hereby clarifies answers the questions that were received.

1. The schedule lists "48 Volt 18-85-21," but 18-85-21 is commonly a 36V battery size, while 48V batteries are commonly listed as 24-85-21. Should offerors quote a 48V battery for the Hyundai 20B-9, or an 18-85-21 battery matching the listed dimensions?

The offeror should quote for a 36V maintenance free battery matching the dimensions listed. The schedule of supplies are updated below.

2. Is there any way to get a picture of the battery and truck data tag? The 18-85-21 is NOT a maintenance free battery model number

A data plate of Hyundai 20B-9 lift is attached in three different angles. The numbers are metal stamped versus solid black lettering.

3. Is the listed Hyundai battery required to be OEM, or will equivalent products be accepted?

Equivalents are acceptable, you must send all the literature to the item for it to be technically acceptable.

4. If equivalents are acceptable, are there any approved manufacturers currently being used by DLA?

No

5. Is there a required battery manufacturer warranty period?

1 year

6. Are refurbished or remanufactured batteries acceptable, or are new batteries required?

Brand new

7. Are there any special packaging, marking, or hazardous material shipping requirements beyond standard commercial practice?

No, just standard commercial

8. Is inside delivery required, or is dock delivery acceptable?

Dock delivery is acceptable

9. Will the Government accept partial shipments if lead times vary?

Yes

10. Are there any Buy American Act preferences or country-of-origin restrictions beyond those identified in the solicitation?

No

11. The preferred battery type?

Eternity Battery, no lithium

The description is hereby updated to read 36 Volt and not 48 Volt
