CBP Seal and Signature Naming Convention

Use this naming convention guide to select the appropriate electronic signature for reproduction. The file formats provided are explained below.

EPS Format:
The EPS format is for applications that require high-resolution artwork for reproduction, for example, anything that is press-printed or for large-scale projects such as banners or signage. EPS signatures can be proportionally scaled (enlarged and reduced) without degradation in quality. EPS files can be imported into or opened by page layout and illustration software such as Illustrator or Photoshop.

PNG, JPEG and TIF Formats:
PNG signatures are suitable for importing into applications such as Microsoft Word, Excel or Powerpoint. PNGs can be proportionally reduced but should only be slightly enlarged, otherwise distortion of the signature will occur. JPEGs have been created for use in web and Microsoft applications. JPEGs should never be proportionally enlarged beyond the size supplied as the quality will degrade quickly. TIF signatures are suitable for importing into applications such as Microsoft Word, Powerpoint and page layout programs. TIFs can be proportionally reduced but should only be slightly enlarged, otherwise distortion of the signature will occur.

Compatible with Mac or PC:
EPS, BMP, JPEG and TIF formats work on Macintosh and Windows platforms.

NOTE: The preferred signature lockup shown previously should be used in all applications whenever possible. If there is insufficient horizontal space, an alternate lockup that is vertically oriented can be used. In this lockup, the wordmark is centered underneath the seal, as shown.

The alternate signature lockup should be used only when the preferred lockup cannot be reproduced accurately.
