FASSTER OVERVIEW

- In support of Army Contracting Command-Detroit Arsenal (ACC-DTA) customers, ACC-DTA is proposing to solicit and award a Multiple Award Indefinite Delivery Indefinite Quantity (MA IDIQ) contract.
- The FASSTER requirement is intended to be the successor to the Fielding Agile Supplies, Support and Training (FASST) contract, expanding its scope to include Class II items and additional program offices.
- ACC-DTA's vision for the overarching FASSTER contract is to provide supplies needed by ACC-DTA's customers when transitioning existing and newly developed hardware from development to full-rate production and support the fielding of these systems. The planned contract will be used to acquire hardware for vehicle systems and the ancillary vehicle support systems managed within the ACC-DTA's customer portfolio.
- This MA IDIQ contract is intended to provide existing and newly developed hardware using part numbers and/or drawings such as:
  - Hardware Production, resulting from Upgrades (Engineering Change Proposals (ECPs), Material Work Orders (MWOs), Pre-Fielding failures)
  - Electronic and Electrical components
  - Training & Test equipment
  - Parachute Equipment
  - Installation Kits
  - Maintenance Kits
  - Mounting Equipment
  - Shop Equipment

Hypothetical Example

FASSTER Procurement Method:

An ECP is approved for an antenna mount to remedy a failure in the field under that vehicles Systems Technical Support contract.
The Government receives drawings that enable it to compete this updated antenna mount.

→

FASSTER:
Request for Delivery order proposal issued.
FASSTER is streamlined using FAR Subpart 16.5 Ordering Procedures.

→

Antenna mount ordered under FASSTER is delivered. Hardware installation takes place under separate contract.
