1. The MPCs say organic resources can be used for test-weight material as long as the actual weight is verified. Are contractors allowed to use suitable vehicles, boats, equipment, or other material already on the Base as the test load instead of bringing in dedicated test weights?

Answer: The Contractor shall provide all weights, vehicles, equipment, testing materials, etc. to inspect and load test the equipment. The only exception to this will be the boat lifts outlined in Section 11 – Detailed Technical Requirements (subsection d). The Contractor shall provide a detailed plan of action for approval which may or may not include using the boats to load test.

2. If using what is already onsite is allowed, ensuring the weight is verified and everything is rigged safely?

Answer: Organic resources will not be allowed. The only exception to this will be the boat lifts outlined in Section 11 – Detailed Technical Requirements (subsection d). The Contractor shall provide a detailed plan of action for approval which may or may not include using the boats to load test.
