The Government will award to the responsible offeror whose offer represents the best value to the Government, considering price and non-price factors. Non-price factors include technical acceptability and past performance, including the offeror's demonstrated ability to provide supplies of similar type and complexity.

The Government will evaluate past performance using information from the Contractor Performance Assessment Reporting System (CPARS), other Government records, and information provided by the offeror. The Government will not evaluate the absence of relevant past performance favorably or unfavorably.

Offerors are encouraged to submit sufficient descriptive information to demonstrate that the offered supplies meet the requirements of the solicitation. This may include product descriptions, specifications, part numbers, manufacturer information, or other documentation necessary to establish technical acceptability.

Offerors are responsible for ensuring that the supplies offered are correct, complete, and compatible with the Government's requirements. The Government may consider the offeror's demonstrated understanding of the supplies and ability to reliably source and deliver the required items as part of the evaluation of technical acceptability and past performance. Failure to provide correct supplies or inability to fulfill the requirement after award may render the offeror ineligible for award or subject to termination.

Submit offers electronically via email to the points of contact identified in this notice. The Government does not prescribe a specific quotation format. Offerors must submit a quotation that clearly identifies the supplies offered and demonstrates compliance with the stated requirements. Submissions must be complete, clear, and presented in a format that allows effective evaluation by the Government.

Submit offers on a firm-fixed-price basis. Prices must be all-inclusive and must cover all costs associated with providing the supplies, including but not limited to manufacturing, packaging, handling, transportation, duties, tariffs, fees, and any other costs. The Government may consider offers nonresponsive if they include conditional pricing, price escalation language, or statements indicating that prices are subject to adjustment based on future costs or fees.

The Government intends to evaluate offers and make award without discussions; therefore, offerors should submit their best offer with initial submission.

Submit all questions via email to the points of contact identified in this notice. The Government will not accept telephone inquiries.
