Questions and Answers

1. Requesting clarification regarding WI 35: Temporary Services, Provide – Cutter, duty section berthing requirement. WI 35 appears to require the Contractor to provide duty section berthing for up to two members per day, identified as one male and one female, for the duration of the availability.

   Please Confirm the following:
   - Is the Contractor required to include pricing for berthing/lodging for two duty section personnel per day for the full duration of the availability?
   - Since the Contractor's facility is within the 50-road mile radius of the vessel's homeport, please confirm that the Contractor is not required to include pricing for full crew lodging, meals, per diem, Family Separation Allowance, or Homeport Travel?
   - Please confirm whether hotel lodging is acceptable to meet the duty section berthing requirement, or if another specific berthing arrangement is required.

   Answer: Please refer to reference: Surface Forces Logistics Center Standard Specification 8635 (SFLC Std. Spec 8635), 2020, Temporary Services for the requirements that are required under WI35.

2. Regarding WI 13 Main Engine/Reduction Gear, Realign (specifically paragraph 3.4 Operational Test): The requirement states that after completion of work, the Contractor must test during sea trials, in the presence of the Coast Guard Inspector, and demonstrate the propeller shaft is in satisfactory operating condition, operates without binding, and inspect/correct any abnormal noise and vibration generated from the shaft or bearings.
   - Is this requirement only a functional/operational demonstration witnessed by Coast Guard personnel, or if the Government is requiring recorded vibration readings by a vibration analysis contractor?
   - If recorded vibration readings are required, please confirm the acceptance criteria, operating conditions, measurement locations, and when/where the readings are expected to be taken?

   Answer: WI 13 is an Option that is only activated in the event results of propulsion shaft alignment required MDE/RG alignment. No, there is no requirement for recorded vibration readings by a vibration analysis contractor.
