FAR Provision 52.212-2 updated as follows:
52.212-2, Evaluation - Commercial Products and Commercial Services (Nov 2021).

(a) The Government will award a contract resulting from this solicitation to the responsible offeror whose offer conforming to the solicitation will be most advantageous to the Government, price and other factors considered. The Government intends to utilize a Best Value Tradeoff process to determine the awardee.

Technical Capability and Past Performance, when combined, are significantly more important than price. The Government notes that as technical capability and past performance ratings between competing proposals approach equality, price will become relatively more important in the final source selection decision.

The Government reserves the right to award to a higher-priced offeror if the technical superiority or lower risk of that offeror justifies the price premium.

The following factors and subfactors shall be used to evaluate offers:

FACTOR 1: TECHNICAL CAPABILITY The Government will evaluate the offeror's technical proposal to determine its ability to meet the operational demands of high-volume digital license plate printing. This factor is comprised of three (3) equally weighted subfactors:

Subfactor A: Production Throughput and Efficiency
The Government will evaluate the printer's documented production speed (plates per hour) and its ability to maintain continuous operations with minimal calibration downtime and low material waste rates.

Subfactor B: Print Quality and Durability
The Government will evaluate the printer's capability to meet required reflectivity, adhesion, and legibility standards. Proposals will be assessed on the expected lifespan of the print against fading, peeling, and environmental wear under industrial conditions.

Subfactor C: Technical Features and Software Integration
The Government will evaluate the printer's core features, automated quality control systems, and its ability to natively interface and securely integrate with existing agency databases and inventory management software.
The Government will also evaluate any additional required software for the ability to run within the required security confines, such as functioning in a "closed" network environment and functioning without local or network administrative permissions (unless it runs as a Windows service).

Subfactor D: Delivery Lead Time and Schedule
The Government will evaluate the offeror's proposed delivery and installation timeline. Proposals will be assessed on the feasibility, realism, and speed of the schedule from the date of contract award to full operational capability at the Unicor facility. Shorter delivery lead times that minimize operational downtime will be evaluated more favorably, provided they are realistic and supported by a clear deployment plan.

FACTOR 2: PAST PERFORMANCE
The Government will evaluate the offeror's record of recent and relevant performance to assess the level of risk associated with successful execution.

Recency: Defined as work performed within the past three (3) years from the issuance date of this solicitation.

Relevance: Defined as contracts involving the installation, deployment, and long-term maintenance of high-volume industrial digital printing systems of a similar scale and complexity.

Assessment: The evaluation will focus on system uptime metrics, vendor responsiveness, and overall customer satisfaction. Offerors without a record of relevant past performance will receive a "Neutral" rating.

FACTOR 3: TOTAL LIFE-CYCLE COST / PRICE

Price will not be scored adjectively, but will be evaluated for completeness, reasonableness, and total cost of ownership. The evaluated price will consist of the cumulative total of the following:

Base Equipment Cost: Upfront capital cost of the digital license plate printer hardware. • Software and Licensing: Initial setup, installation, and any ongoing software licensing fees.

Consumables Matrix: Estimated costs of ink, printheads, and proprietary materials over a projected 5-year operational lifecycle.

Service and Maintenance: Annual cost of the manufacturer's warranty, preventative maintenance schedule, and on-site emergency repair support.

(b) A written notice of award or acceptance of an offer furnished to the successful offeror within the time for acceptance specified in the offer, shall result in a binding contract without further action by either party. Before the offer's specified expiration time, the Government may accept an offer (or part of an offer), whether or not there are negotiations after its receipt, unless a written notice of withdrawal is received before award.
(END OF PROVISION)

Submission Instructions Update:
Offerors must explicitly state their delivery lead time in terms of Days After Receipt of Order (ARO) from the date of contract award.
